

ABSTRACT

An electrical connection part for a fiberizing installation for delivering filaments, such as glass filaments, the part being made of an electrically conducting material and having at least one contact surface. The at least one contact surface is coated with gold.